1. The Polish ship HUGO KOLLATAJ arrived in Montevideo on 24 September 1951 from Gdynia and discharged a cargo of general goods as indicated below. No cargo was taken aboard at Montevideo, and the ship departed for Buenos Aires on 26 September.
2. It was learned from crew members of the HUGO KOLLATAJ that the ship has no "cultural" officer, but the radio communications officer, Kasmierz Pieniazek, is responsible for the political education of the sailors, with full powers to punish them as he sees fit.
3. Pieniazek is known to have questioned Ladislao Masny, a Polish citizen working in the Montevideo port area, of the whereabouts of Bernard Dolny*, a deserter from the Polish ship BALTYK. Pieniazek stated that he had a message from Dolny's mother in Poland and that he wanted Dolny to come aboard to receive the message personally. Dolny refused the offer and through Masny requested Pieniazek to come ashore to discuss the matter—a suggestion which Pieniazek rejected.
4. Source, in a general observation of the crew, stated that the men, for the most part, were considerably younger than in the past; also, because of intensive "instruction", they were becoming increasingly reluctant to talk about conditions aboard ship or in Poland.
5. The following cargo was unloaded in Montevideo from the HUGO KOLLATAJ:

Merchandise	Shipper	Consignee	Amount (kilos)
107 boxes floor tiles	Spedrapid Ltd.	Cerv. y Malteria Paysandu	2620
7 boxes personal effects	G. Kartwig Ltd.	Russian Embassy	230
